CREATIVE CLASSES FOR PEOPLE WHO DON'T THINK THEY'RE CREATIVE

YOU ARE Creative

“ At the beginning of every class, there’s always at least one person who makes the disclaimer that they’re not creative. I just don’t believe that’s true!

Before becoming a full time artist 5 years ago, I thought I couldn’t draw. It wasn’t until my friend bought me a coloring book, and I allowed myself to just play without any pressure, that I discovered that I actually can make something I could be proud of. Ever since, my motto has been “Stop Stopping Yourself”, and I invite all of my students to do the same!

My classes aren’t just about the art of hand lettering or watercolor.

MY CLASSES ARE ABOUT GIVING YOURSELF +
YOUR TEAM THE OPPORTUNITY TO TRY SOMETHING NEW IN A SUPPORTIVE ENVIRONMENT.

The most common thing I hear from participants after class is how they surprised themselves with what they were able to create in such a short time. As a teacher, hearing that is the best feeling in the world. I would love to be there for your ‘Aha!’ moment, too!

“

DANIELLE’S WAS AN ABSOLUTE JOY TO WORK WITH! I am beyond thrilled we had her host a virtual hand lettering class for our company all hands meeting—

IT WAS THE PERFECT MENTAL HEALTH BREAK DURING A FULL WEEK OF PRESENTATIONS AND MEETINGS... Danielle and her team of moderators are excellent at hosting virtual events that are still engaging and interactive...Couldn’t recommend them any more.

4 CLASSES, 4 DAYS,
16 COHORT GROUPS

- ▶ I taught 4 sessions with D.E. Shaw's summer intern cohorts, and even though we wrote the same phrase, each final project looked different! One class chose to use just black and white, while another was all about color. It keeps things exciting!

CASE STUDY: ESTÉE LAUDER ORIGINS VIRTUAL WORKSHOP

WORKSHOP:
Floral Illustration

CLASS SIZE:
200+

OF CO-TEACHERS:

WORKSHOP:
Floral Illustration

OVERVIEW: For this Mother's Day Virtual Activation, I partnered with the Estée Lauder Origins' store team in NYC. I led a floral illustration class inspired by the new spring product packaging.

ALL SIZE CLASSES WELCOME: 200+ participants worked together to create a bouquet of ranunculus and roses that could be used for a Mother's Day card or print. Trained co-teachers helped give advice and answer questions so no one is overlooked in the crowd.

ABOVE + BEYOND: Registration for this event was over 500 participants, which far surpassed the 40 person estimate that was anticipated based on previous online events that did not include an activity portion. Sales were also higher both during and after the event, with most attendees requesting to be contacted with more information and/or to make a purchase.

EXCLUSIVE PROMOTIONAL MATERIALS: I created exclusive illustrations and graphics to help the team promote the event online and fuel excitement for the event.

CLIENT RESULTS: The Mother's Day workshop was Estée Lauder's second largest sales event since Christmas the previous year.
